DUTY ON SILICON

After Five Hours.

Lumber Schedule Is Topic for General Discussion in Which Burton Seeks Adoption of Waterway Improvement and Is Overruled-Dingley Rates for Timber Industry.

The Senate was in session only five lours yesterday. Under a tentative agreement, the paragraphs in the tariff bill were not considered with the idea of disposing of any of them. A conditional agreement was reached by which the duty on ferro-silicon was increased from $4 to schedule. Much of the debate was not pertinent to the lumber question.

Senator McLaurin of Mississippl, made an extended speech demanding the removal of the duty on cotton bagging and single mill in this country.

After a short executive session the Senfor consideration, and the Senator from Mississippi believes that a concession to the South will be granted finally by the Finance Committee by the reduction or removal of this duty

Debate Languished at 3 o'Clock. The debate languished about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and Senator Aldrich met no strenuous opposition when he moved for an executive session, with the understanding that an adjournment would follow.
